Better the balance, better the world

Caitlin is a proud multicultural Australian, social entrepreneur, activist, and Merici Alumni. She sits on three United Nations Task Forces with her work spanning five continents. At 20 years old, Caitlin was named one of Australia's 100 Most Influential Women and an Obama White House Changemaker for Gender Equality by the President and Michelle Obama. Caitlin represents 4.3 million young Australians as a Board Director of the Australian Youth Affairs Coalition, and in partnership with UN Women founded Jasiri Australia, a youth led movement on a mission to build a generation of fearless women with the skills, support, and resilience to lead change. Caitlin was included on the Forbes 30 Under 30 list for organising the world's largest Girls Takeover Parliament Program with the Federal Parliament to promote democracy and increase female representation. Currently completing a Double Degree in Law and International Development, Caitlin runs a small education business and was named ACT Young Woman of the Year and a 2018 Queen's Young Leader.
